Updated March 23, 2020

Ministry of Justice Situation Room

1. Entry & Exit

- Additional Entry Restrictions (Mar. 9, 2020.)

(Q) After March 9, 2020, are Japanese nationals required to obtain a visa to enter the Republic of Korea?

- (A) As all visa-free entry measures have been suspended for valid Japanese passport holders (including diplomat and official passports), Japanese passport holders must obtain a visa in order to enter the Republic of Korea after midnight (00:00) March 9, 2020.
- However, Japanese nationals whose foreigner registration (including permanent residency) or domestic residence report is valid in Korea, or when the Japanese national is an APEC Business Traveler cardholder, they will be eligible to enter Korea visa-free.

(Q) What happens to the validity of visas previously issued by the Korean embassies or consulates located in Japan?

- (A) As of midnight (00:00) March 9, 2020, all valid visas issued to Japanese nationals by the Korean embassies or consulates in Japan have been temporarily suspended.
- Therefore, valid visas will not be suspended when a foreign national other than Japanese holds a valid visa issued by a Korean embassy or consulate in Japan, or when a Japanese national holds a visa issued by a Korean embassy or consulate located in other than Japan.

(Q) Can a foreign national other than Japanese enter the Republic of Korea with a visa issued by a Korean embassy or consulate in Japan?

(A) As the visa suspension measure regarding valid visas issued by the Korean embassies or consulates in Japan only applies to Japanese nationals, foreign nationals other than Japanese who were issued a valid visa from the Korean embassies or consulates in Japan will be able to enter the Republic of Korea.

(Q) If a Japanese national entered the Republic of Korea before the implementation of entry restrictions on Japanese nationals with a previously issued visa, and is currently staying in Korea, would this person be unable to come back to Korea after departure?

(A) Unless the Japanese national is a registered foreigner or has reported domestic residence in Korea, those who entered the Republic of Korea before the implementation of March 9 measures and is currently staying in Korea will be required to obtain a new visa in order to enter Korea after departure.

(Q) I understand that the measures will not apply to a Japanese national if that person is a registered foreigner in Korea. Will there be any problem when this person enters Korea after departure?

(A) Among Japanese nationals who entered the Republic of Korea before the March 9 measures and is currently staying in Korea, if that person is a registered foreigner or has reported domestic residence in Korea, and the foreigner registration and domestic residence report remains valid, the Japanese national will have no problem staying in Korea as well as entering after departure. (However, the remaining period of stay and re-entry permit exempt period needs to be checked.)

(Q) What happens if a Japanese national enters the Republic of Korea from a third country, such as the United States?

(A) Japanese nationals, regardless of their point of departure, will not be allowed visa-free entry to the Republic of Korea. However, they will be able to enter Korea with a visa, since the visa suspension measures do not apply to visas issued by Korean embassies or consulates located in countries other than Japan.

(Q) When a Japanese national only intends to transfer flights at Incheon International Airport to travel to Europe, does this person require a visa?

(A) Under the condition that the person will not enter the Republic of Korea, Japanese nationals will be able to transfer flights at a Korean airport without a visa, regardless of the current measures.

(Q) Japan announced its restriction measures will be implemented until the end of March. Is there a timeframe for Korea's measures?

(A) The recent measures of March 9 have been introduced as an emergency plan to prevent the spread of COVID-19. Our department will continue monitoring the spread of the virus in the international community as well as the response management of the country concerned and plans to review the duration of the measures after.

(A) As measures to contain the spread of COVID-19, submission of Certificate of Health has become mandatory when applying for Republic of Korea visas.

(A) Japanese nationals staying in the Republic of Korea after entering the country prior to the March 9 measure are permitted to stay and re-enter the country, on condition that his/her certificate of alien registration or report of residence remains valid. (Yet, the relevant person has to check his/her remaining period of stay or whether the exemption period for re-entry permit has expired or not)

(Q) Are Japanese nationals, who have not filed for an alien registration (or reported a place of residence) after entry into the country with a visa, permitted to re-enter the Republic of Korea after his/her departure?

- (A) Japanese nationals are not permitted to re-enter the ROK in case he/she departs from the country without alien registration (or reporting a place of residence), unless he/she obtains a new visa.

Those exempted from the alien registration requirement, including holders of A-1, A-2 and A-3 visas are also required to file for an alien registration to be permitted to re-enter the Republic of Korea. (Under the temporary measure of visa invalidation, visas shall be obtained again if he/she failed to file for an alien registration)

< Exemption criteria for Re-entry permit (Article 44-2 of Enforcement Rule of Immigration Act, Article 10 of Act on Immigration and Legal Status of Overseas Koreans) >

1. Holders of Permanent Resident (F-5) Status who intend to re-enter the ROK within 2 years from the date of departure.

(Q) Are e-visas subject to the measure of visa nullification as well, or does it remain the same way to apply for and receive e-visas?

(A) The validity of already issued e-visas is not suspended, but remains valid. However, restrictions have been imposed on application and issuance of e-visas as visa criteria have been strengthened since March 9, 2020. Accordingly, visa applications should be made to the Korean Embassy and Consular Offices in Japan.

- Existing restrictions (Feb. 2020. ~)

(Q) If the spouse of a Korean national is a Chinese national, would the Chinese spouse be excluded from the recent entry restriction measures? If so, what would the procedure be?

(A) In principle, a spouse of a Korean national, lineal ascendant and descendant, and permanent residents are subject to restriction. However, when the person agrees to the self-quarantine measures and undergoes immigration clearance, he/she may obtain permission to enter Korea.

(Q) Does the Republic of Korea government continue to issue visas for Chinese nationals, as previously done, after the COVID-19 outbreak?

(A) As measures to contain the spread of COVID-19, submission of Certificate of Health has become mandatory when applying for Republic of Korea visas.

In addition, the Korean government has stepped up its criteria for reviewing the visa application. Now the Korean Embassy or Consulate Generals in China are having enough time in reviewing the visa application, are checking whether the applicant has visited Hubei or stayed in Hubei, and reviewing whether the applicant is under incubation period since the receipt of visa application.

However, holders of passports issued in Hubei (yet, those who have proved that he/she has not visited/stayed in Hubei within the recent 14 days are allowed to enter the Republic of Korea as an exception) as well as those who have visited/stayed in the Province within the recent 14 days are, in principle, not eligible to obtain Republic of Korea visas.

(Q) What should foreigners with symptoms of the COVID-19 or infected foreigners do if his/her Period of Stay expired while under quarantine/treatment?

(A) They need to fully follow the directions from the health authorities until quarantine is lifted after receiving treatment for the virus as no restrictions will be imposed for exceeding the period of stay while under quarantine/treatment, as long as he/she applies for Extension of Stay or departs from the Republic of Korea within the designated period* after receiving treatment.

* Within 10 days for short-term visitors, and within 30 days for registered aliens (or who reported his/her residence)

(Q) Foreign nationals departing from Hubei are now barred from entering the Republic of Korea. Are there any support measures in place to help those foreigners, who have already entered the nation after having previously resided in Hubei?

(A) Chinese nationals who are not eligible for Extension of Stay with his/her current Status of Stay in the Republic of Korea, if verified to have resided in Hubei through a family register or certificate of residence, are eligible to receive 'Permission for Extension of Stay for Departure' to legally stay in the Republic of Korea for certain period of time under Article 32 of the Enforcement Regulations of the Immigration Act.

(Q) Does the KCDC Call Center (1339) provide counseling services in foreign languages regarding COVID-19 infection?

(A) Foreign residents in the nation can ask the 1339 Call Center for help. The Immigration Contact Center (1345) under the Ministry of Justice provides it with three-way interpretation services when a foreign resident who has reached the KCDC Call Center needs interpretation assistance to get counseling regarding COVID-19 infection.

3. Supports for illegal immigrants

(Q) Can illegal immigrants get tested for COVID-19?

- (A) According to Paragraph 2, Article 92 of the Enforcement Decree of the Immigration Act, exemption from reporting obligation will be given to the civil servant in charge who acknowledges such immigration status when an immigrant visits the hospital to get tested for COVID-19. Please note that Korean immigration offices do not crack down on medical institutions or collect information on illegal immigrants who have a record of hospital visit. Thus illegal immigrants can feel free to visit local hospitals when they have symptoms of COVID-19.

(Q) Are illegal immigrants in quarantine equally entitled to fine exemption and loosened entry ban restrictions just as those who declared voluntary departure?

- (A) No. Just because illegal immigrants received treatment of an infectious disease, they will not be given the equal benefits of those who declared voluntary departure, when the illegal immigrant's personal information and whether they are willing to declare voluntary departure have not been verified. However, if they declare voluntary departure after being released, the first date of the treatment will be deemed as the declared day so that no disadvantages will be given because of the quarantine measure. (Documents will be required for proof of treatment of infectious diseases.)

4. Information system link

(Q) Upon request of relevant agencies can the Ministry of Justice provide the immigration record or the alien registration information (including those who reported domestic residence) of Koreans and foreigners?

- (A) All personal information collected and managed by the Ministry of Justice is maintained according to the Personal Information Protection Act. Therefore, in order to use or disclose personal information for other than the purpose of which it was collected, it should fall under any of the subparagraphs of Article 18 Paragraph 2 of the Personal Information Protection Act, such as ‘consent is obtained from the data subject’ or ‘special provisions exist in other laws’.
- As the COVID-19 is “an infectious disease that has a serious impact on public safety and security, and public health”, the personal information can be provided for other than its original purpose pursuant to Article 58 Paragraph 1 Subparagraph 3 of the Personal Information Protection Act. Therefore, when relevant agencies request information such as the immigration record or alien registration information, the Ministry of Justice promptly provides the information, to the extent necessary for the purpose of preventing the spread of the virus.

5. Naturalization

(Q) It is announced that a group ceremony for naturalization, consisting of taking an Oath of Allegiance and receiving a Certificate of Nationality, is suspended as a response to the outbreak of the coronavirus. What is the reason behind this?

(A) As more than 100 people are expected to take part in a naturalization event*, we were concerned that this could serve as an occasion ripe for the spread of the virus. After a great deal of deliberation, we decided to suspend a naturalization ceremony.

* In accordance with the revised Korean Nationality Law (20 Dec 2018), a naturalized citizen or a person who restores his or her Korean nationality must swear an oath as a Korean citizen before the Minister of the Ministry of Justice (MOJ), and will be issued a certificate of Naturalization or Restoration of Citizenship. This is a mandatory part of the naturalization process.

- Given the situation, the MOJ will cancel a welcoming event where a number of people gather in one, limited space. In most cases, naturalization procedures will be handled by mail. For instance, each immigrant who naturalizes him or herself in Korea or person who restores his or her citizenship, will be required to submit an Oath of Allegiance in writing by mail, and the same goes for the procedures involving a certificate of naturalization or citizenship. Only when it is unavoidable, an applicant will be asked to visit an immigration office in person and engage in the relevant processes individually.
- Until the government lowers its infectious disease alert level to at least

Yellow or lower, the MOJ will continue the suspension of the ceremony. (Yellow refers to Level 2 out of 4-level national crisis management system).

(Q) What will the Nationality Division do when a naturalization applicant fails to report his or her results for Korea Immigration and Integration Program (KIIP) assessment within a deadline of one year?

(A) With a temporary halt to the KIIP evaluation and resulting (possible) difficulties for some applicants, the Nationality Division decided to extend the deadline to submit KIIP reports on their results to July 24, 2020. (This change is limited to those who applied between Feb 8, 2019 and July 23, 2019.)

- If the suspension is further prolonged, the Division will adjust the relevant deadlines or take other measures to ensure that applicants for naturalization would not suffer grave disadvantages.

(Q) With the threat alert level raised to the highest due to the outbreak of the coronavirus, how would the Nationality division deal with policies requiring in-person visit, such as naturalization interviews or citizenship renunciation confirmation?

(A) Since a naturalization interview is often conducted in a small room for a long time, the Nationality Division, which was concerned about the secondary infection, suspended all scheduled interviews between Feb

24, 2020 and Mar 31, 2020. Additional adjustments in the threat alert level will affect its decision to further suspend or resume interviews.

In order to minimize in-person visit, submissions with the deadline of Feb 24, 2020 will be extended until April 29, 2020 for persons with a current address in Korea. For those who are staying outside Korea, the deadline is postponed until June 30, 2020. This decision applied to reporting dual citizenship, renunciation of foreign citizenship, and submitting a written pledge not to exercise his/her foreign nationality rights.

(Q) With the alert level raised to the highest of four on Feb 23, the government announced suspending a nationality ceremony. What is the Division's next ceremony plan after March?

(A) It is true that a rise in the nation's alert level resulted in halting a naturalization ceremony where a participant receives a citizenship certificate after reciting an oath of allegiance. Ever since the cessation, an immigration office, depending on its situation, has sent a citizenship applicant his/her certificate by mail, as an attempt to avoid face-to-face contact, or arranged an individual ceremony.

※ Korea's nationality act has been amended to include a mandatory oath of allegiance and citizenship certificate distribution. (Enforced on Dec 20, 2018.)

As the outbreak of Covid-19 shows no signs of abating, the government inevitably stopped all relevant procedures, including group events, until the end of March.

To avoid any inconvenience that may rise from the delay of the processes, the division will adopt an alternative policy* on April 1 where all local immigration offices nationwide will distribute online certificates on a standing basis. Only the critically ill patient or a person whose departure is nearing will be allowed to visit an immigration office in person, if the head of the office finds it necessary.

The new policy will save a person who becomes a citizen or restores his/her citizenship a trip to an office, and the procedures are as thus:

- A written or oral statement that pledges for fidelity will be filed with an immigration office via various means, including facsimile, email, text messaging, or voice call.
- An immigration officer will, in turn, send an official citizen-ship certificate and ask to sign a form to confirm that the person concerned will not exercise his/her foreign nationality in Korea.
- An individual will be later issued a confirmation note by the government for her/his promise not to hold dual citizenship.

For further details, you can consult a local immigration officer, Hi-Korea.com, or call 1345. Going forward, the government will ensure there would be no setback in all relevant procedures in respect to the nationalization ceremony.

(Q) Is there any support for naturalization applicants regarding special quarantine measures, declared on Mar 15, for Daegu and three parts—Gyeongsan, Cheongdo and Bonghwa—in Gyeongbuk?

(A) Special quarantine measures include the application fee waiver program for an applicant for facilitated Naturalization, Special Naturalization or Restoration of Citizenship, but this is only when s/he is either (a) a recipient of the disaster relief fund or (b) a spouse or child of a Korean citizen who is a beneficiary of the fund.

In addition, if an applicant for Simplified Naturalization for Marriage Migrant is either (a) a current resident of one of the affected regions who is also receiving the disaster relief fund (b) or a spouse of a Korean citizen who is a recipient of the fund, his/her naturalization application will be accepted at a Daegu immigration office, even when documents that prove means of subsistence are not exhaustive. The deadline, in addition, for the required documents will be postponed until the first-instance assessment by the immigration office in Daegu, and a specialized application procedure will be adopted later.

The ending date for the relief scheme may be announced at a later time.

6. Social Integration Programs

(Q) I have been informed that the social integration program is being put on hold as part of the COVID-19 related measures. Can you explain why such measures are being put in place?

(A) Based on possible human to human transmission of the infectious virus, the Ministry of Justice has temporarily suspended the Korea Immigration & Integration program* (KIIP) and the Initial Orientation Course for immigrants to contain the further spread as a precautionary measure.

* An educational program designed to help foreign residents and naturalized Koreans acquire basic knowledge and information about life in Korea so that they can adapt to the Korean society and become a self-reliant member.

 An educational program designed to provide information in multiple languages about Korea's basic law, institutions, life guide to foreigners who plan a long-term stay so that they can smoothly settle down in the Korean society from the beginning of their entry into Korea.

- Such programs are being put on hold temporarily as a precautionary measure following concerns over possible infection of participants who have resided in or traveled to China.

(Q) When are you planning to resume the social integration program?

(A) According to the 「Infectious Diseases & Disaster Management Operations Manual」, the current national alert level* remains at 'Alert', given the relatively low number of reported cases of the COVID-19 within the Republic of Korea.

* 4-level national alert system: 'Interest' -> 'Caution' -> 'Alert' -> 'Serious'

- We will make our utmost efforts to ensure foreign residents would not face any difficulties in adapting to Korean life under the current alarming situation. To this end, we will make sure the social integration program will be resumed as soon as the spread of the COVID-19 slows down and the alert level is downgraded.

(Q) What measures are in consideration to deal with possible surge of the number of applicants when the social integration programs resume?

- (A) We're stepping up our effort to minimize inconvenience for the applicants by opening additional classes, increasing class hours, and providing more application assessment opportunities.
- Also, we will spare no effort to address the complaints from the applicants by mobilizing our full capacity of 289 social integration centers running nationwide. With our facility capacity, we will ensure more education opportunities as well as education venues.

(Q) What are the management plans for the educational program for Koreans who are in preparation of international marriage?

- (A) As we have witnessed from the 12th confirmed patient who visited one of the Korean immigration offices, frequently visited immigration offices are particularly prone to infectious diseases including the COVID-19.
- In this regard, given the further spread of the virus infection, the Ministry of Justice decided to temporarily put the program on hold that was set to start in February, 2020.
 - We acknowledge applicants could not take the course due to the temporary suspension. Taking into consideration such circumstance, those who applied for the February course are eligible to apply for a visa. However, the educational program is mandatory to obtain a visa.

- Our educational program for international marriage is scheduled to resume within this March and the specific schedule will be posted soon.

(Q) Can I extend my F-6 visa at an overseas diplomatic mission when I could not make it to Korea until the expiration date due to COVID-19 restrictions?

(A) No, overseas diplomatic missions have no authority to extend visa.

Given the scope of authority of overseas diplomatic missions and eligibility criteria for the extension of sojourn and change of the visa status, you shall return to Korea and reapply for the F-6 visa.

-To ease the burden, Immigrant Integration Division introduced a streamlined submission process for visa re-issuance and change of visa status.

*It gives exemptions of filing requirements (inviter's income, health condition, criminal record and marriage migrant's language proficiency) and submission of a marriage migrant personal statement.

-As an alternative, those with an Alien Registration Card under this particular circumstance may enter Korea in a visa-free or C-3 visa status and apply for change of visa status.

(Q) What measures have been taken to stop the spread of COVID-19 from international students in the nation?

(A) The Ministry of Justice has taken measures in the following three areas, which came into force on February 7, 2020, to provide support for international students in visa issuance process as well as their stay in the Republic of Korea, aiming to stem the further spread of COVID-19.

- Firstly, the Ministry of Justice will provide its support for international students whose visas have expired due to being unable to enter Korea because of the entry restrictions. For such students, the visa re-issuance procedure will be simplified and visa fees will be exempted.
- Secondly, the Ministry of Justice will take measures to ensure their legal stay in the nation, by allowing them to extend their period of stay based on the adjusted academic calendar such as deferral of school semesters.
- Thirdly, the Ministry will put its efforts into alleviating concerns over the growing COVID-19 infections by temporarily offering international students online classes for Korean language programs, where only offline classes have so far been available for recognition.

(Q) What will the Nationality Division do when a naturalization applicant fails to report his or her results for Korea Immigration and Integration Program (KIIP) assessment within a deadline of one year?

- (A) With a temporary halt to the KIIP evaluation and resulting (possible) difficulties for some applicants, the Nationality Division decided to extend the deadline to submit KIIP reports on their results to July 24, 2020. (This change is limited to those who applied between Feb 8, 2019 and July 23, 2019.)
- If the suspension is further prolonged, the Division will adjust the relevant deadlines or take other measures to ensure that applicants for naturalization would not suffer grave disadvantages.

(Q) With the threat alert level raised to the highest due to the outbreak of the coronavirus, how would the Nationality division deal with policies requiring in-person visit, such as naturalization interviews or citizenship renunciation confirmation?

(A) Since a naturalization interview is often conducted in a small room for a long time, the Nationality Division, which was concerned about the secondary infection, suspended all scheduled interviews between Feb 24, 2020 and Mar 31, 2020. Additional adjustments in the threat alert level will affect its decision to further suspend or resume interviews.

- In order to minimize in-person visit, submissions with the deadline of Feb 24, 2020 will be extended until April 29, 2020 for persons with a current address in Korea. For those who are staying outside Korea, the deadline is postponed until June 30, 2020. This decision applied to reporting dual citizenship, renunciation of foreign citizenship, and submitting a written pledge not to exercise his/her foreign nationality rights.
